JAMES A. ROGERS, Chairman

ELEVENTH ANNUAL REPORT SOUTH CAROLINA STATE LIBRARY BOARD

July 1, 1953 - June 30, 1954

The State Library Board was created in 1929 to represent the State in all public library matters. It is charged with the duty to "create public libraries over the entire State . . . and to devise and carry into effect methods by which libraries may be extended to the rural districts of the State." The Board is composed of five members appointed by the Governor.

A PROGRAM OF SERVICE TO THE STATE

The Board's program is one of service to the people of the State through the extension and improvement of public library service. This program comprises the following services:

The assistance, advice and direction of a small staff of public library experts to any public library in the State or to any group of citizens interested in establishing or improving public library service.

A State Aid Program which encourages the establishment and aids in the improvement of county and regional libraries.

The development of standards of library service for the guidance of public libraries.

An inter-library loan service through which any book in the State is available to any library patron who needs the material for study.

A Book Lending Service to communities in counties without countywide library service and to State Institutions with no libraries or inadequate ones.

Cooperation with other State agencies and organizations in carrying out programs for the benefit of the citizens of the State.

Contribution to the cultural, educational and human resources of the State through the extension of public library service even into the most remote rural areas.

PROGRESS OF THE PROGRAM

The Board's objective is good public library service within easy reach of the citizens of the State. Progress in accomplishing this goal has been rapid since the Board received its first appropriation in 1943. Today 39 counties are served by county or regional library systems; 44 bookmobiles travel the roads of the counties bringing books and the opportunity for continuing education to even the most remote rural areas; per capita expenditures for public library service has risen from 14c in 1943 to 43c in 1954; and library bookstock has increased from 602,500 volumes in 1943 to 1,356,066 in 1954.

Although much progress has been made in public library development in the State, much remains to be accomplished. 479,716 South Carolina citizens still have no public library service; bookstocks remain at slightly over $\frac{1}{2}$ book per capita; 7 counties as yet do not have countywide library service and existing county library service is of varying degrees of excellence. Per capita expenditure for public library service (43c) is far below the American Library Association's recommended standard for minimum service of \$1.50 per capita.

During the first ten years of the Board's program, the emphasis of a necessity was on the extension of public library service to unserved people wherever they might live. This goal of statewide library service has not been entirely accomplished, but such progress has been made that only seven counties are still without countywide library service. The 479,716 South Carolinians who still do not have public library service are largely rural Negroes and persons living in the seven counties without service. Though the Board will continue to work for the extension of service to unserved people, the main emphasis for the next few years will be upon the improvement of public library service and the development of areas of cooperation among school, college and public libraries for the general improvement of all library service.

IMPROVEMENT OF PUBLIC LIBRARY SERVICE

Books, Periodicals and Binding: Books are a library's stock in trade. If the library is to serve its public efficiently and economically, it must have a collection of books large enough to answer the questions and fill the requests of its borrowers. Books must be carefully selected and periodically "weeded" to keep the collection up-to-date and useful; books must be kept in good condition by rebinding and mending and the entire book collection arranged so logically and accurately as to insure the greatest service to the public. A basic problem that must be solved before the public library in South Carolina can realize its full potential of service to the people is the problem of inadequate book stocks. Per capita ownership of books by the public libraries in South Carolina is only slightly over $\frac{1}{2}$ book per capita. Only four public libraries have as much as 1 book per capita and eighteen have less than $\frac{1}{2}$ book per capita. The State Library Board works with the public libraries in improving book collections through careful selection of new materials and the weeding out and discarding of out-of-date and useless material. Advice and help is given on pre-binding and rebinding of books and in the selection of periodicals to fill the need for current material on a wide variety of subjects. Substantial additions are needed to the book stocks of all public libraries large and small.

Library Personnel: 273 library workers are employed by the public libraries; of these only 39 are professionally qualified librarians. This is far below the minimum number of library workers necessary to bring even minimum public library service to the residents of the State. To give anything more than token service, this number of public library employees needs to be doubled and of this increase at least half should be trained librarians. A competent staff large enough to make the library's book collection an effective instrument of public service is a requirement of efficient and economical library service. Professionally qualified librarians are needed to organize and administer the county and regional library systems; to select and organize the book collections for the maximum use; to give reliable reference service to the people of the community; and to give advice and guidance in reading to the general public.

The State Library Board serves as an unofficial placement agency for the public libraries of the State and is in almost constant consultation with library boards on problems of personnel. Assistance is given in locating qualified persons to fill vacancies or new positions on library staffs. Advice is given on salary and tenure and on general staff policies. The State Library Board takes an active part in recruiting young people for the library profession.

Public Library Finance: Basic to the problems of inadequate book collections and insufficient personnel is the problem of public library finance. Since 1943 per capita support of public library service has increased from 14c to the present 43c per capita or a total expenditure for public library service of $919,409. This is far too little to buy the books and employ the personnel necessary for even minimum service. Increased support both at local and state level for public library service is essential if the difficulties of insufficient books and limited personnel are to be overcome.

STATE AID

A major factor in the extension and improvement of public library service in South Carolina has been the State Aid Program administered by the State Library Board. Since the beginning of the program in 1943, it has been the policy of the Board to grant State Aid only to those libraries which met certain minimum standards and which gave service to an entire county through bookmobiles, branches and stations. The results of this policy have been a system of county and regional libraries serving thirty-nine of the State's forty-six counties. These large units of service have in nearly all cases resulted from the joining together of small village, municipal and township libraries into county or regional libraries. Such consolidation has resulted in better service at smaller cost to a greater number of people.

For the past two years, the State Aid Allotment has been $1,500 to each qualifying county library or member of a regional library system. To qualify for State Aid, the county library must meet certain standards of service. A cash allotment is made directly to county libraries which are well established and are in charge of a professional librarian. Smaller county libraries in charge of non-professional personnel receive the same amount ($1,500) in books, and as an additional service to them, the books are ordered and processed by the State Library Board and delivered to the library ready for circulation. County libraries receiving State Aid by direct cash allotment, 1953-54:

Aiken	Horry
Charleston	Lancaster
Cherokee	Laurens
Chester	Lexington
Colleton	Newberry-Saluda Regional
Darlington	Library
Dillon	Orangeburg
Greenville	Richland
Greenwood	Spartanburg
	Sumter

County libraries receiving State Aid in books equivalent of cash allotment:

Abbeville	Florence
Allendale-Hampton-Jasper	Georgetown
Regional Library	Kershaw
Anderson	Lee
Barnwell	Marion
Berkeley	Marlboro
Calhoun	Oconee
Dorchester	Pickens
Fairfield	Union
	York

Regional Maintenance grants of $500 per participating county were made to the Allendale-Hampton-Jasper Regional Library and to the Newberry-Saluda Regional Library.

COMMUNITY BOOK DEPOSITS

With countywide library service now operating in 39 counties, the Book Deposit Service given by the State Library Board to unserved rural communities and small towns is becoming of less importance. The service was instrumental in the establishment of many of the county libraries and is still being used to its full extent in the seven counties still without countywide library service. Book deposits of from 100 to 1000 volumes, depending on the size of the community and the use of the books, are placed in communities in the seven counties without countywide library service. Every three months a professional librarian from the staff of the State Library Board takes the bookmobile to visit these deposits. Books are exchanged; conferences held with the custodian of the deposit; and plans made to improve or extend local library service. This same service is given to State Institutions with no library or inadequate library service. Communities using this service:

Bamberg County—Bamberg
 Beaufort County—St. Helena Island
 Chesterfield County—Cheraw, McBee, Pageland
 Clarendon County—Manning, Paxville, Gable
 Edgefield County—Edgefield, Johnston
 McCormick County—McCormick
 Williamsburg County—Kingstree
 State Institutions using this service:
 State Hospital
 Industrial School for Boys
 Summer Orthopedic Camp for Children
 State Training School
 School for the Deaf and Blind

Book deposits were maintained in the following counties up to the time county or regional libraries were established: Barnwell, Dorchester, Horry, Jasper, Lee, Lexington, Oconee, and Saluda.

LOANS TO INDIVIDUALS

As library service improves and as more county libraries are established, fewer requests are received by the State Library Board for direct loans of books to individuals. The service is still offered to the seven counties without countywide library service. Loans are made by mail and may consist of an individual title or a small collection of books for the use of a family or club group.

INTERLIBRARY LOAN SERVICE

The interlibrary loan service is an attempt by the State Library Board to help the individual public library supply the requests of its patrons for books not in its collection. This service helps to overcome the inadequacy of book collections in all the public libraries and is of considerable value to the people and libraries of the State. In theory this service makes any book in any library of the State available to any reader in the State for study and research. Requests are received by the State Library Board which acts as a clearing house for the system. Loans of books are arranged between libraries to fill requests of library patrons. This service is of mutual benefit to libraries and their patrons.

INFORMATION AND ADVISORY SERVICE

Since the establishment of the program, the information and advisory services offered by the Board to public libraries through its staff of trained and experienced librarians has been constantly used. As the shortage of professional librarians remains acute, many county and municipal libraries which are unable to employ fully qualified personnel, are relying upon the staff of the State Board for professional guidance and help. The Board's staff of professional librarians serve as consultants on all phases of library procedure and practice. To help insure the wise selection and economical purchase of books, carefully selected lists of books for purchase are prepared and distributed to all public libraries in the State. Advice is given on placing book orders to secure the best service at the best price. Assistance is given in reorganizing book collections and in streamlining library procedures. Local library boards consult the State Library Board on making of budgets, policies of book selections, employment of librarians, reorganization of libraries, on staff regulations and on salary schedules. With newly organized public libraries, the staff of the State Board works closely with the local librarian and her board during the period of organization. Help and advice on every phase of the organization and beginning operation of a new library is offered.

To individuals and organizations in counties which are interested in establishing countywide service, the staff of the State Library Board offers every assistance in their power. Numerous field visits are made; conferences held; and information, advice and help given in the steps preliminary to the establishment of countywide service. The professional staff of the State Board serve as consultants on new library buildings, new equipment and new bookmobiles. This consultant service is of great value to the libraries and is constantly used by boards, librarians, architects and designers of library equipment.

CENTRALIZED SERVICE

In the headquarters of the State Library Board in Columbia, the State Aid Program, the interlibrary loan system and the book deposit service are planned and administered. Approximately 20,000 books a year are selected, ordered, and processed for State Aid, for the book deposit service, and for the Board's own collection of reference material. Book collections ranging from 100 to 500 volumes are gotten up and shipped out to the county libraries or to municipal libraries in answer to some special need. Interlibrary loan requests are filled and the books shipped to the individual libraries. Monthly and annual reports are made of the expenditures and activities of the Board. The office of the State Library Board is open six days a week for the service of the public libraries, librarians, and library trustees of the State.

LIBRARY WORKSHOP

A workshop for public librarians was held on October 29-30 at the Richland County Library by the South Carolina State Library Board. Eighty librarians registered and 36 counties were represented at the workshop.

Consultants for the workshop were Mrs. Genevieve B. Galick, Director, and Miss Alice Cahill, Supervisor of Field Services, Massachusetts Division of Library Extension.

The program was planned on the basis of a survey of current problems of South Carolina libraries. Four panel discussions were arranged and much time was given to general discussion of problems.

A feature of the workshop was a display of publicity and public relations materials from many of the county and regional libraries in the State.

LIBRARY BUILDING PROGRAM

During the year three new public library buildings were completed and opened to the public. Renovation and reconstruction were completed on two buildings and great progress was made in Charleston, Colleton and Orangeburg counties in campaigns for new county library buildings.

Lee County dedicated its new county library headquarters building on March 22nd, 1954. This building is a memorial to the late Mrs. Blanche Tarrant Woodward and was constructed on a lot and with funds left for the purpose by her husband. The building is in the modern style and is furnished in keeping.

The Calhoun County Library opened its new building on March 13, 1954. This building is the result of a complete restoration of one of the handsome old residences in St. Matthews. The interior was completely replanned for library service. Much color has been used throughout the building and the furnishings selected in the period of the building. The building includes space for the Calhoun County Historical Commission with separate entrance and work areas. A feature of this building is a small auditorium and a completely equipped kitchen designed to make the library a center of community activity.

The De Kalb Street Branch of the Kershaw County Library of Camden was opened on March 7, 1954. The building is of red brick and provides reading rooms for children and adults. The building is located on property originally deeded to the town of Camden by the King of England.

The Barnwell County Library opened its new building on November 30, 1953. This building is the result of the complete renovation and reconstruction of a former residence given to Barnwell County by Mr. C. G. Fuller. The building was completely re-decorated. Furniture and shelving are in natural maple with chairs and sofas upholstered in turquoise, coral and tobacco brown. The use of color in this building has been particularly successful. Reading rooms, a small auditorium and meeting room, work area and bookmobile space were successfully included in the renovation.

The Aiken County Library opened its new headquarters on November 19, 1953. This building comprises a $50,000 addition to a completely renovated, redecorated and refurnished old building. The new addition houses workrooms, bookmobile and two stack levels.

The Colleton County Library has purchased a large lot for the location of its proposed county library headquarters building. A building committee is at work on plans for the new building.

A Library Building Commission has been appointed in Orangeburg County to plan and supervise the building of a new county library headquarters building in Orangeburg.

An election will be held this November in Charleston on a $750,000 bond issue for the construction of a headquarters building for the Charleston Free Library of Charleston County.

LIBRARY PROGRESS DURING THE YEAR

New county library buildings were completed in Barnwell, Aiken, Lee and Calhoun counties and a new branch library building was completed in Camden.

The Barnwell County Library and the Dorchester County Library were organized.

A bill was passed by the Legislature establishing a commission to investigate and report on the advisability of establishing a public library for Chesterfield County.
